THE SCHOLARS ARE THE TRUE BUILDERS

The year 1977 denotes the end of an era for the Class of '77 but the beginning of one for Yeshiva University. The appointment of Rabbi Dr. Norman Lamm to the Presidency of Yeshiva marks the first time that one of its own graduates has been chosen to lead Yeshiva. Under the leadership of Drs. Revel and Belkin zt"l, Y.U. became a major university and the ideal of Torah Umadah as a synthesis was realized. Yeshiva, along with all other institutions of higher learning, is in a period of crisis, in which the whole value of a college education is being questioned. In this difficult time we hope that Dr. Lamm will show the wisdom and courage needed to renew and strengthen the foundations of this venerable institution.

The class of '77 pledges its support in this struggle and we are confident that Yeshiva, with Dr. Lamm at its helm will survive and thrive. With these thoughts in our hearts, we dedicate MASMID 1977 to our fellow alumnus, Dr. Norman Lamm, third president of Yeshiva University.

Dear Freshman,
Welcome to Yeshiva University, the largest institution of higher education under Jewish auspices in the United States. Guided by the ideal of Torah Umadah, Yeshiva is the home for such diverse elements as a Beis Medrash, a liberal arts college, and graduate schools.

Yeshiva College, the backbone of the University, encompasses a broad spectrum of programs, including Humanities, Natural Sciences, and Social Sciences. The student body, although comparatively small, is a diversified group, representing all regions of the U.S. and all major Jewish communities abroad.

The uniqueness of Yeshiva is to be found in its Judaic Studies programs which offer something for everyone. The Yeshiva Program combines independent study in Talmud with high level lectures by renowned Talmudists, while the James Striar School molds Bnai Torah out of students with limited backgrounds. The Erna Michael College offers its wide variety of courses (with instruction in Hebrew) and is concerned with training the Jewish educators of tomorrow.

Although the dual program of secular and religious studies occupies much of the student's time, Y.U., nevertheless, offers a wide range of popular extra-curricular activities. Inter-collegiate competition is available in basketball, wrestling, fencing and bowling and there is a host of intramural sports. Dramatics is an exciting pastime at Yeshiva and other diversions offered include the school's own radio station and numerous scholarly and popular publications.

Over the next four years, you will be given the opportunity to engage in as many of these activities as you choose. Your college career will be as productive as you make it.

I request permission to take Dr Feldblums History of Talmud (Heb. 93) instead of a Bible course next term. The reason I cannot take another Bible course is that I am a Junior in a Sophmore shiur and I have already taken all the Tuesday Bibles. I can't take Bible on Sunday as I am taking Bio Lab Before you grant me permission, there is one more thing that you should know. Dr. Feldblum's course conflicts in part with my Organic Lab, I will be able to attend Dr. Blackmun's lectures on the lab in Tues night but I will preform the lab until Wed. night.

Hello from Miami Beach

[illegible]ishe,

How are you doing? I'm sorry I haven't written in a while, but as you'll soon see from my letter, I've really been pretty busy lately.

As you know, I am taking Bio and Orgo again this term. My Bio midterm is coming up next Monday (Dr. Tendler is giving it on 5 chapters), and his fill-in tests are really murder. The Friday following the Bio midterm, I have an Orgo test, and who knows when I'm going to study for that. I'll probably have an all-nighter the night before, heavy on the coffee and No-Doz. I can't even study next Tuesday night because I've been going down to Kaplan's on Tuesday nights in addition to being there all day Sundays.

Let me tell you, Kaplan's can really get on your nerves. Most of the guys here go to the classes; most of us just sit and listen to his tapes all day and scribble some notes down. When I started Kaplan's a couple of weeks ago it was really interesting. Aside from killing Sundays there, I really felt like I'm getting anywhere. On the first Science Test of his there were fifty questions. I got maybe fifteen of them right! It was pathetic. I was ready to quit then and there. Now I'm getting a little better, and besides there are some pretty girls in the class in the Brooklyn Kaplan's. (In Manhattan it's a real dump, but the girls aren't as good looking.) It's not that there are hour headsets on for hour after hour listening to Dr. Kaplan and his crew plodding onward in their boring little tapes. Most of us have also been working hard during the week, and needless to say Sunday is a real beating.

The thing that gets to you is that no matter what time you get there, there are always 70 guys already there [illegible]. Last Sunday, I arrived up to Kaplan's [illegible] was swarming with the fellas! I [illegible] at 8:30, but having gone to bed at [illegible] I just couldn't get up [illegible] between Bio, Orgo and Kaplan's [illegible], but I'm trying. I've been [illegible] from Stern, but I think I'll [illegible] I can spend all of my time at [illegible] Boy, am I dreading that! [illegible] Sunday night after research, less than [illegible]

[illegible] I've got to study a little bit [illegible] guys have [illegible] times already. [illegible] I'm ending all mail. Take care of yourself. I'll see you research.

Contribution from the three structures, V–VII, stabilizes the radical in a way that is not possible for the molecule. Resonance thus lowers the energy content of the benzyl radical more than it lowers the energy content of toluene. This extra stabilization of the radical evidently amounts to 19 kcal/mole (Fig. 12.1)

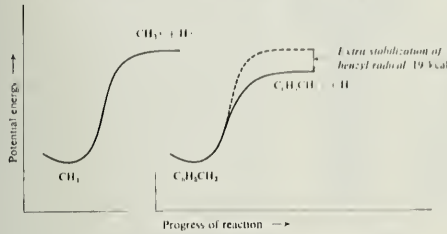

Figure 12.1. Molecular structure and rate of reaction. Resonance-stabilized benzyl radical formed faster than methyl radical. (Plots aligned with each other for easy comparison.)

We say, then, that the benzyl radical is stabilized by resonance. When we use this expression, we must always bear in mind that we actually mean that the benzyl radical is stabilized by resonance to a greater extent than the hydrocarbon from which it is formed.

In terms of orbitals, delocalization results from overlap of the p orbital occupied by the odd electron with the π cloud of the ring.

Dear Joseph,

I must be just the "Greatest guy" – Judy told me last night that she wants to be "just friends" – after our 9th date . . . I decided yesterday once again to be a confirmed bachelor, – no more Thursday night stints at Skyrink – not me! Hell with my Farrah Fawcett pinup on the wall beside me, what else could a man ever want?

Then there was the class blind date, and they needed one more guy (in addition to the other 3 who signed up). Naturally, my roommate who was in charge convinced me that the last girl was tall, rich and has a daddy on the Board of Admissions in N.Y.U. . . . But me? I'm a confirmed bachelor! Wild horses couldn't get me to stoop so low . . .

Well the big night came, and with tear in eye and heart in hand, I bade farewell to my angelic Farrah with promises of a quick return and everlasting fidelity.

Our group saw "Travesties" on Broadway, but I couldn't see past the nose of the girl in front of me – and that was before she turned sideways . . . oh well . . . My date? Her name was Brigett, and no she is not blonde with skimpy clingy clothes! Rich? Well she told me that she's on work study in the Caf., but I had figured that out already; the whole night, no matter what we talked about, all she could say was "next please" . . .

So what the hell . . . I left her at 1 AM & it was over – It wasn't even so bad! I was even gonna call her again until I got back to my room and there was Farrah . . . eyeing me suspiciously!!! I verbally vowed my faithfulness while listening to another 4 hour marathon soap opera spewing forth from my "Married" roommate, on the phone with his woman.

It's Thurs. night now – just came from a Messibat Rosh Chodesh – who says Y.U. doesn't have good social events?? – And you'll never guess who was there! It seems that dear old Brigette has a social life as booming as mine. Well we spent that night gossiping about the Y.U. – Stern co-eds that we never really met. When things got hot and heavy we discussed the pros & cons of Harry Fruhman's Orchestra that was playing tonight . . . Mrs. Majors you have nothing to worry about . . . I simply use Brigette to make you jealous . . .

And yet under Brigette's aforementioned mysterious exterior I detect (with the help of my 2 psych courses) that there is even a more alluring personality waiting to be dragged out with the slightest beckoning of a convoy of 5,000 Mack trucks. . . . Alas I shall never know what I am missing for I am sworn to bachelorhood!! Besides, what would Farrah think when . . .

Love,
Mike

P.S. June 76 – I was cleaning out my room when I found this. Sorry I never mailed it.

Nov 17, 1976

Dear Graduates of the Class of 1977:

This year has been a fateful one in the life of our Yeshiva. It was witness to the untimely passing of our great rebbe, Dr. Samuel Belkin ז"ל, the architect of our university, who brilliantly pinioned much of the foundation stone of authentic Jewish life on these shores and beyond.

It also ushers in a new era, when for the first time, one of our own, an illustrious alumnus of our yeshiva and college has taken the helm of our Alma Mater. We wish Dr. Lamm well and the help of Providence as he responds to this at once portentious and challenging call.

I believe that in the last years there has been more Torah here than there was before, even as there may have been more University than before. My prayer is that you will take this Torah and this Madah as you leave our yeshiva, and deepen it and enhance it in the service of the Al-Mighty, our people and all mankind.

May G-d be with you in all your endeavors as you carry forward the sacred heritage which is so uniquely ours.

Sincerely yours,

To the Class of 1977

There is always a tension at the interface of two phases and the graduation-commencement phenomenon is no exception. The mutation of a warm, ongoing student-teacher relationship to a sometime, although hopefully still warm, alumni-colleague relationship, is bittersweet, dotted with exhilirating peaks of accomplishment and troubled by the troughs of "ifs" and "we should have....". But this much is clear: you are the irreplaceable, indispensable resource and reservoir of the Jewish Community and there will be no meaningful tomorrow without your contribution. The rigors of the dual program have not only touched you personally but equipped you for service and leadership, whatever your career, and the veritable survival of the Torah Community depends upon you. The responsibility is awesome, yet elevating and ennobling.

One hopes that your tomorrow will harbor kind and gracious memories of yesterday and that your mature perspective will encourage today's children as they move, each on his own axis, to their own tomorrows.

In my name, and in the name of all of our faculty at Erna Michael College, I offer our heartfelt wishes and blessings for a peaceful, happy, and productive life, advancing our Torah Heritage.

KNOWLEDGE and WISDOM

Wisdom is, in the Bible, associated with the heart and not the head or brain. Thus, the architects and builders of the Tabernacle who were endowed by G-d with "the spirit of Wisdom" are described as "wise of heart", and the Book of Proverbs tells us: "The wise of heart chooses good deeds".

There is, of course, a distinction between knowledge and wisdom. Knowledge is lodged in the brain, the seat of the intellect, while wisdom, informed by knowledge, draws deeply upon the heart, the source of feeling and sensibility. Knowledge is objective and detached, and may have little impact on character and conduct, while wisdom inheres in the wise man to mold his personality and elevate the meaning and quality of his life.

The ideals of human faith, spirit, and endeavor, derive more from the wisdom of the heart than the knowledge of the mind. Secular education provides knowledge, but it is Torah learning that adds the dimension of wisdom which inspires spiritual awareness and religious committment. The Yeshiva graduate must aspire to be wise of heart even as he pursues the goals of knowledge, career success, and personal fulfillment, and he can do this by maintaining his bond of loyalty to Torah and Yeshiva.

To all graduates, I extend my very best wishes for many and bountiful blessings.

OFFICE OF THE DEAN

November 15, 1976

Here at Yeshiva College, as in no other college, you were given the opportunity during the four years of your undergraduate experience, to help put into effect many of the idealistic notions you had formed about college. Here, too, living in a small community of scholars, in the religious as well as in the secular field, you were given the opportunity not only to complete required courses in preparation for your professional goals in life but also to deal with ideas and, above all, to deepen your dedication to the understanding and observance of our traditional laws and customs. Here you were daily exposed to the problems which arise when modern cultural and social patterns challenge ancient ones, with the expectation that mature minds will blend seemingly contrastive patterns in such a fashion as to have our ancient traditional patterns reinforce the modern ones and vice versa. I trust that your Yeshiva education based on the principle of תורה ומדע will be the beacon that will guide you as you plot your course in life and seek new and creative ways to serve yourselves and your fellow men.

As you, members of the 46th graduating class, leave the sacred halls of Yeshiva, the best wishes of the faculty, staff, and administration go with you. I hope that whether you be far or near you will always retain interest in your Alma Mater and her concerns, and I wish every one of you farewell in the sense that you may truly fare-well.

Liberal Arts in recent years has been a much maligned concept, but here at Yeshiva, in the person of Dean Issac Bacon, resides one of the stanchest defenders of this ideal. In various forums, from the YC Senate to APRAC, the Dean has often taken unpopular views which have usually been vindicated by experience.

It is a rare individual that can earn the respect of such diverse elements as students, faculty, and administration, and Dean Bacon is just such a man. The Class of '77 would like to thank the Dean for his years of devoted service on behalf of Yeshiva. May he be as successful in all his future endeavors as he has been here.

Dr. Tauber's Death Saddens YU Family

Dr. Abraham Tauber, Chairman of the Speech and Drama Department at Yeshiva College, and for over three decades a professor at Yeshiva University, died a week ago Sunday, after a three year fight with cancer. The University professor was 64 years old. Many administration and faculty members and students close to Dr. Tauber expressed deep sadness over the loss of what Assistant Professor of Speech and Drama, Anthony Boukas, called "more than just a chairman or professor, but a man who cared on a very personal level about everyone in his department."

YC Dean Isaac Bacon remarked, "We have lost not only an outstanding teacher and scholar, but a dedicated friend whose presence will be missed by his colleagues and students for many years to come."

Dr. Laurel Keating, Associate Professor of Speech, said, "The loss is great — great to the University, to the student body, and most of all to the members of the faculty who were privileged to be close to him. Dr. Tauber leaves with us a memory of him both as teacher and as friend."

Named an "Outstanding Educator of America" in 1971, Dr. Tauber was active in many areas of the University. He served as chairman of the Scholastic Standing Committee and as the first chairman of the Yeshiva College Senate. He also served on doctoral committees of YU's Ferkauf Graduate School.

Dr. Tauber was instrumental in broadening the speech department into a department of speech and drama, offering a wide spectrum of required and elective courses and an accredited major.

While most members of the YU community knew Dr. Tauber as an extremely dedicated, talented and understanding professor, he was at the same time a major innovator in the field of education and he worked for a wide range of civic, educational, religious, and humanitarian causes.

He joined the faculty at Yeshiva after having served with the New York Board of Education, City University, Hunter College and SUNY at Purchase, and was a founding Dean of Faculty at Bronx Community College, an institution which he helped to organize for the City University system. He was an original member of the faculty of the Bronx High School of Science, from 1939 to 1958.

The professor was a brilliant educator and the author of Shaw on Language and A History of English Language Spelling Reform Movement; Outside, he was an athlete — a singles and doubles champion of the United States Paddle Tennis Association. While receiving degrees from City College and Columbia University, Dr. Tauber, as member of a track team, set a record for the shot put that was not broken for 10 years.

1976-'77 COMMENTATOR Governing Board Chosen

At the Governing Board meeting of May 5, Ricky Eisenberg ('77) was selected as the new Editor-in-Chief of THE COMMENTATOR. The new governing board chosen to assist him includes seniors Terry Rifkin, Robert Blass, Michael Goldberg, Harry Kaplovitz, Alden Leifer, Kalman Ausubel, and six juniors who will serve on the board for the first time.

Editor-in-Chief Eisenberg, an economics major enrolled in the Yeshiva Program, was last year's News Editor of THE COMMENTATOR. On the YC Dean's List for two years, he has served on the Student Council as President of his class for two years, and is a fencing saberman.
